

KUWAIT COULDN'T WAIT.. ...AS RLI GOES GLOBAL

RLI breaks boundaries, goes international in its unrelenting effort to pursue its vision of training leaders of impact capable of taking the church forward in the 21st century. In February 2011, one of RLI's facilitators – Pastor Nosa Evbuomwan – was at the Persian Gulf, the rich Arabian EMIRATE OF KUWAIT to train church leaders. Two courses taken are: MINISTERIAL ETHICS & RESPONSIBILITIES and LEADERSHIP, MOTIVATION & TEAM BUILDING. The letter of gratitude sent to RLI Registrar by Pastor Femi Oyeyemi, the parish pastor of HOUSE OF DAVID, Kuwait is a testimony of the good job which RLI is doing.

"This is to say a big thank you from all the ministers, workers and members of RCCG House of David in Kuwait, for the extension of your hands of fellowship and sharing much of your knowledge with us.

We are very grateful and pray that the good God will reward your labor of love and the seed you have sown among us shall bring forth multiple harvests in Jesus Name.

Thanks, we could not have asked for a better instructor, we thank God for the grace of God over your life.

Special thanks to Pastor Bimpe for taking bet on us to come thus far. God will reward your faith in us.

We wish Pastor Nosa could have had an extra day with us; but we will not hesitate to have him back any day.

Thanks again for the good works

God Bless,

PONDER ON THIS . . .

by:
Pastor
E. A. Adeboye

- “Jesus is the greatest leader that ever lived. You can be like Him”
- “Great leaders see far into the future. They see what the subordinates cannot see.”
- “Loneliness is one of the greatest challenges of a leader. Great leaders are lonely for want of like-minded people, birds of the same feathers flock together they say. People tend to fellowship with those with whom they have common visions, aspirations and goals. Where such goals are diverse, there will not be meeting of minds on crucial issues. What kind of companion are you to your pastor? Some pastors are still lonely even with several ministers under them. Is your presence solving or compounding the loneliness of your pastor?”

Consider this . . .

As a leader, it is helpful to perform a self-assessment of your leadership effectiveness. You can determine your effectiveness as you lead up, across, and down in your unique organizational hierarchy. If you care to know, learn and improve your leadership effectiveness, we recommend that you log in to www.360degreeleader.com to take a free assessment of your leadership effectiveness. When you do, you will be forced to rethink and refine your leadership habits and at the same time validate those areas in which you are having success. All the best . . .
